The deep bowls like this one are usually used during cold weather as they keep the tea hot for long. This cylindrical tea bowl is fully covered with a thin layer of light blue glazing. It is embellished with a fine hand-made picture of Buddhist temple on the island. This attractive high-sided teacup with a smooth surface enables you to savor the flavor of your favorite brew. The bowl's glazed walls stay lukewarm from outside and won't scald your fingers. The vessel sits comfortably in the hand and stands steadily on the table. The tea bowl is manufactured in Longquan province that is one of the largest historical ceramic producing areas in China.

You'll be informed and empowered from inception to project review and beyond. We think that's key to a happy, productive relationship and to the best results.

Every project with One Design is assigned a dedicated project manager. Your project manager is your direct line to One Design, ensuring that you always know what's going on, what's next, and what we need from you. An expert in putting out fires (and lighting fires under people, occasionally).
